"If you die and go to heaven to sit at the table of the Lord, odds are very good that

He'll serve apple pies made by Ruby "Tootie" Feagan for dessert. That's not meant to be sacrilegious or blasphemous.

"Tootie Pies" are just that good."

-San Antonio Express News

"Well, in 1990, enough folks in Medina fussed and hollered that there were "no pies at their annual Texas International Apple Festival." So along came Tootie to save the day. Ever since, she's been making some of the most delicious five-pound(!) apple, cream, and pecan pies that you could ever hope to smack your gums around."

-Austin Chronicle

"A trip to Medina demands the purchase of a whole apple pie, from...Tootie Pie!, where pie queen Ruby Lorraine "Tootie" Feagan makes fabulous five-pounders. As I left town at dusk with one of Tootie's monsters riding shotgun, I was treated to a Sistine Chapel-quality sunset of creamy clouds shot through with pink and gold."

-Texas Monthly

"In the United States you know a dish has gained classic status when cooks start doing strange things to it... like the four-pound + supersizers at Tootie Pie in Medina, Tx."

-The New York Times
